Dear Chairman

I am horrified at the 'Malicious benefactors'

I worked with Professor Donovan for many years as a partner especially with the formulation of the very successful company "I cube" which we sold to Microsoft for 1 billion dollars. I have always marveled at his ability to create billions of dollars worth of value for business and wealth for his family and associates. I have also witnessed the jealousy and greed drive some of his former business associates to outright thievery; but I never thought that his own adult child James. The ultimate benefactors of his great achievements, would succumb to the same temptations.
